Talk of Wm. J. Holloway, Jr., on
September 26, 1968

Judge Murrah, Senator Monroney,
Judges and Lawyers, my dear Friends:

You honor me greatly by coming today. You make this an occasion I will always remember.

I will remember the love of parents, and their inspiration throughout my life.

I will remember the devotion of wife and family and friends, who encourage me.

I will remember good judges and lawyers whose lives have made our profession worthy, and my part in it a constant joy.

I will remember the trust of those who recommended me for this task.

I will remember the confidence of the President for me to undertake it.

I will remember words spoken to a group of young lawyers in 1950 when they were dedicated "... to the shaping and application of those wise restraints that make men free."

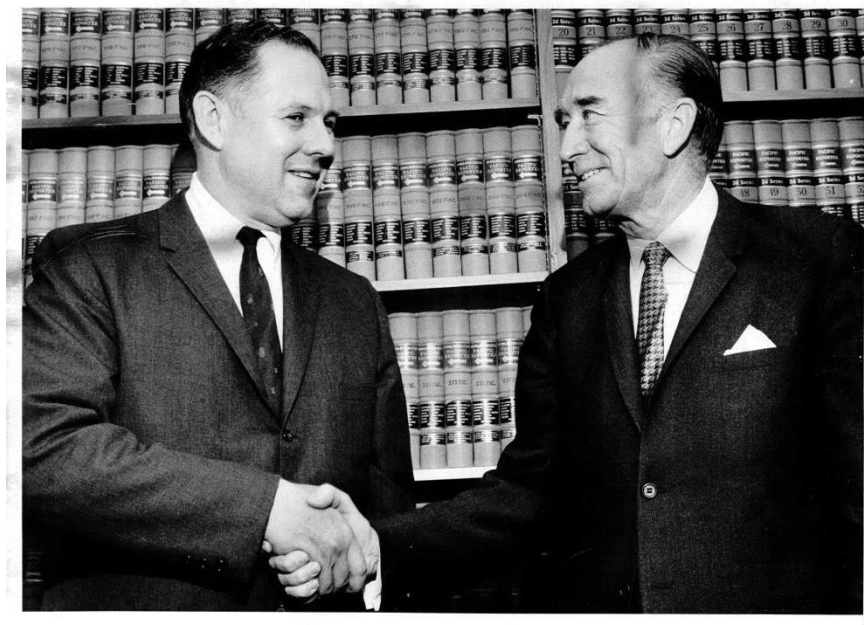

And all such thoughts will inspire me to do my utmost to serve honorably and well.

I shall remember also the scripture:

".. And what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God."
